The Gingerbread Lady is a play by Neil Simon. It was widely believed to have been written specifically for actress Maureen Stapleton, who won both the Tony Award and Drama Desk Award for her performance. But in a later autobiography, Simon wrote that he'd feared Stapleton might be "hurt" if she assumed the character's flaws and personal damage were a direct dramatization of her life. Simon said that it was director Mike Nichols' suggestion to cast Stapleton in the role, and that Simon responded,

Hilarious, punchy, tragic, and absolutely heart breaking. "Gingerbread Lady" is a subtle concoction of Chekhov, Arthur Miler, and a dash of Shelagh Delaney. Neil Simon has mastered the delicate balance of wit and great sadness in this perfect cocktail about the things people are willing to sacrifice for those they love.

Synopsis of “ The Gingerbread Lady ” by Neil Simon. Neil Simon ’ s 1970 play is far removed from the comedies that made his name, being a dark and disturbing tale of addiction, dependence and regret with some comic overtones. The Gingerbread Lady centres on Ava Meara, a cabaret singer whose career, marriage, and health have all been destroyed by alcohol.
